Stall to wall

Want to add a little whimsy to your walls? Mondo Cherry is an art, decor and design company owned by sisters Joy Stewart and Clare Scholes, and their mum Sue Hooper. They hatched the idea in 2006 over "coffee and a few too many slices of cake" and now have a gorgeous range of boxed wall hangings featuring quirky illustrations, engaging text and pretty antique papers. Available at markets across Brisbane, see www.mondocherry.com.au

Lounging around

Fresh stock has arrived at Found Furniture, which imports chic '60s pieces, such as the newly-arrived Parker lounge suite ($4000, two pieces), a retro setting that would be perfectly at home on the set of Mad Men and features a rattan back and Zepel fabric. This restored Fleur chair recovered in Warwick fabric ($795) is also new to the floor. Ph: 5534 7628, www.foundfurniture.com.au

Wooden it be lovely

Handcrafted from Australian chestnut, Dare Gallery's Hobart range features a knotty, grainy texture in a rich, honey hue - perfect for adding character. This Hobart dining table ($799, small; $999, large) and entertainment unit ($999) are both durable and hard-wearing. www.daregallery.com.au

Writing blocks

These cute tram scroll-inspired Destination Blocks ($66, set of four) have landed at online shop Remo General Store. Made in Sydney from painted wood and tough printed paper, the blocks come in two versions - Sydney suburbs and international cities. www.remogeneralstore.com.au
