

The good, the bad and the ugly

GOOD: Well, she's an ex-model so of course Diane Kruger (left, with boyfriend Joshua Jackson) is understandably going to look great in a frock, but her couture gown from Christian Lacroix was simply a standout on the Golden Globes' red carpet. Extra points go to the German-born actress for choosing a designer who was hit hard by the financial crisis. Sadly, Lacroix no longer makes divine couture confections such as the one Kruger is wearing.

BAD: This is no new territory for Patricia Arquette (above right). She's either adamantly doing her own thing (you go, girlfriend) or still struggles with what to wear. Sadly, the floor-grazing frock swallows up the diminutive star.

UGLY: Ugly. Weird. Oddball. Well, Lindsay Lohan (right) is certainly not ugly, but any of those aforementioned adjectives could just as easily describe the troubled young actress. Her hooded Brian Lichtenberg mini dress is just another ode to her eccentricity.

The checkout

LAUNCHING their biggest men's campaign underwear label Holeproof signed the buffed blokes from Bondi Rescue — head lifeguard Hoppo and senior lifeguards Deano and Harries — for the autumn-winter 2010 collection. The boys from the globally popular show will appear in stores in all their Holeproof-underwear glory (no, not in the flesh), next month when the campaign begins. Call (03) 9210 2222 for stockists.

TUPPERWARE has ventured out of the home and into the wide world to deliver an array of travel accessories. Ideal for jetsetters or a simple trip to the shops with baby in tow, Tupperware has every travel need covered with this stylish spill-proof range. For details, contact Tupperware on 1800 805 396 or go to www.tupperware.com.au

GET into the swing of Australia Day in patriotic style. SunnyLIFE's beach cricket set (RRP $49.95) is a great way to add some friendly competition into a day out with friends or family. For stockist details call SunnyLIFE on (03) 9421 6325 or visit www.sunnylife.com.au