So you're sorted. But what to get her? Angel Kate can help

"First, we want to be spoiled rotten, so you're going to have to splash a bit of cash on some of the usual suspects like lingerie, perfume and jewellery (Tiffany or Mimco are a safe bet). But that's the easy bit.

The trick to ensuring you receive the Yuletide shagathon you deserve is to get her something that shows you've really thought about it. Maybe an iPod mini with all the songs that remind you of her, or chocolates spelling out your secret nickname for her. Yes, it's lame, but trust me: your brownie-point bank will be in the black to Valentine's Day and beyond."
